Evil" for a Small Town.

[From the Boston Post, Oct. 24.]

Yesterday a gentleman from Vermont,
"worth" from $25,000 to $30,000, came

JULIUS J. WOOD Posts

to Boston with three New Hampshire bonds, Sixes of $1,000 each, which were due and payable at a leading bank on State street, where they were promptly presented, and the money as quickly received in exchange therefor, viz: three $1,060 bills for the principal, and $90 for the last six months' interest. The ntleman having finished his business, ook the cars, homeward bound. Stop ping at Worcester, he saw some goods which pleased him, but informed the which pleased him, but informed the storekeeper that he was "unable to take them unless he could break a $1,000 bill." "That needn't be any objection," was the answer in substance. "I think we can find a way to change it." The gentleman selected what articles he rished, had them laid aside, and promised to return in a few minutes. As he was about to leave, an officer stepped ap, arrested him, and he very soon found himself locked up. As near as we can learn, the numbers of one or two of the bills were either known or supposed by the storekeeper or the officer to correspond with some advertised num-bers of money said to have been stolen somewhere some three or four years ago. When arrested several attempts were made to pursade him to give up the two bills in question, but he remained de-cidedly firm. "No," said he, "take the whole or none." After passing a very tedious night under the same roof with company he would not choose, he was unlocked this morning and brought back to Boston. No time was lost, of course, in finding the bank. It was highly important to him particularly. Yesterday they gave him his money; today they must restore to him his liberty. The circumstances are briefly stated. The circumstances are briefly stated. The man was all right. The money was all good. The bank, however, re-fused to take it back; they knew nothfused to take it back; they knew nothing about any stolen money; it is not their business; such things cannot often be traced. They advised him to hold on to his bills, and his friends think he should bring an action immediately against certain parties for false imprisement. It would be rather hard for many individuals to take a joke under many individuals to take a joke under such circumstances. Somebody is said to have inquired very unfeelingly whether he didn't feel confident and happy, like Paul when in jail in Macedonia?" evidently overlooking the point that there is much difference between being freed from one's stocks and prison being freed from one's stocks and prison simultaneously by an earthquake, and afterwards taking tea with the jailer's family, and making a journey for the purpose of getting rid of one's stocks in Boston, only to be shut up a few hours afterward by a Worcester jailer for trying to spend the money. Moral—Strangers should not attempt to pass large bills in small towns.

THE Sierra Nevada and Rocky Mountain ranges have been crossed by the locomotive this summer. Five years of patient drilling and blasting and thirty odd millions of money have been required to cross the Sierra Nevadas; but on the 20th of June last the miners of the far famed Washoe Region were for the first time placed within twenty-four hours' ride of San Francisco. Once emerged from the granits mountain ex-cavations, the Central Pacific Company, who have in charge that end of the rail-road line, have made remarkable headway along the Truckee and Humboldt Valleys, the two streams traversing the Salt Lake Basin in a general east and west direction. The track is already laid two hundred miles east of the mountains, and it is still extending at the rate of sixty to seventy-five miles a month. of sixty to seventy-five miles a month. Twelve thousand men are employed at the work, getting out the needful cross ties and bridge timbers, grading, tracklaying and hauling the substance forward. The prospect seems fair that we shall have the continuous rail laid between the two oceans before the close of next year, and possibly within twelve months hence.

DEHR SIR-I take pleasure in recommending your RUSADALIS as a very powerful alterative. I have seen it used in two cases with happy results—one a case of secondary syphilis, in which the patient pronounced himself cured after having taken five bottles of your medicine. The other a case of scroinla, of long standing, which is rapidly improving under its use, and the indications are that the patient will soon recover. I have carefully examined the formula by which your Koseda is is made, and find it an excellent compound of alterative ingredients.
